

Clark County Clean Water Commission

Bylaws

Section 1. Name. The official name shall be "The Clark County Clean Water Commission."

Section 2. Mission. The nine (9) member Clark County Clean Water Commission serves as an advisory body to the Clark County Board of Commissioners (Board) to provide advice and recommendations to the Board on Clean Water related issues. The Commission shall:

- represent a balanced interest in storm and surface water treatment and regulation;
- make recommendations to the board of county commissioners on such matters as the focus of the Stormwater Management Program, program service levels, financing (provide oversight of the program budget and activities), and policies on surface and stormwater issues;
- report to the board (reporting will be done by the Chair and Vice Chair of the Commission) its recommendation for creating an incentive program through which service charges may be adjusted in circumstances where property owners significantly reduce the impacts of stormwater runoff;
- report quarterly (reporting will be done by the Chair and Vice Chair of the Commission) and provide an annual report, signed by all Commission members, to the board of county commissioners on the effectiveness of the ~~stormwater~~ Clean Water Management Program. This report will include:
 - establishing the criteria for evaluating the effectiveness of the program and set forth the criteria in order to make an annual report to the Board;
 - a plan for the upcoming year in addition to evaluating the effectiveness of the program in the preceding year in the annual report;
 - a summary of revenues and expenditures by watershed, zip code, or other easily identifiable geographic means; and
 - a summary of public comments;
- promote clean water/stormwater program coordination among other agencies, groups, and citizens at large.

Section 3. Expectations of the Clean Water Commission. Members of the Clean Water Commission are expected to make considerable commitment in the following areas: regularly attend meetings and workshops; prepare for meetings; participate in the discussion of issues; advise the Board on issues that are difficult for both their implications and complexity. The Board requires and expects careful analysis by the Clean Water Commission on the issues reviewed by them. The Clean Water Commission should expect controversy in making decisions and make timely decisions. Clean Water Commission members should also understand the distinction between applying policy and recommending policy. Members must uphold the policies of the Clark County Stormwater Management Plan, even those policies with which a member may disagree, during the forum of the Clean Water Commission meetings. The opportunity to recommend changes in policy is present at times, but should not be the object of discussion when policies are being applied. Members must be fair and consider all viewpoints. Members must recognize that not all recommendations will be upheld, and expect that some issues may be remanded so that they can be dealt with in a more comprehensive or clear manner.

Section 4. Expectations of the County. The Clean Water Commission should expect the County to commit to providing information in a timely, understandable, and accurate way.. The County should promptly reappoint vacancies on the Clean Water Commission and make appointments that enhance the effectiveness of the Clean Water Commission. The Clean Water Commission should meet with Board at a minimum every three months to discuss issues. Quarterly is preferred and should be scheduled one year in advance. The County should also provide orientation and training materials as necessary.

Section 5. Advisory Role. The advisory role of the Clean Water Commission would involve the entire community, or large segments of it. This may include updates or changes to the Stormwater Management Plan. Clean Water Commission members are required to be impartial, objective, free of entangling influences, and must appear to be fair to the average person. The Clean Water Commission members are typically selected because they represent a diversity of opinion within the community. This diversity also is reflected in the judgments made both individually and collectively by the Clean Water Commission.

Section 6. Abstentions and Conflict of Interest. Members are expected to participate in the discussion of issues before the Clean Water Commission. No member of the Clean Water Commission shall vote on a matter in which they have a direct financial interest, or where a close family member has a direct financial interest. If a member has had ex parte contact with anyone regarding a particular case, that member should reveal that contact and allow any person to object to their participation in the case. Members may step down from proceedings in which they have been challenged. Members may also step down

83 from the proceeding if they believe they can not fairly review any case or that
84 their participation would raise questions of fairness. The appearance of fairness 85 doctrine can not be used to defeat a quorum if members disclose the basis for 86 their disqualification.
